MR. DIBBLE'S STATEMENT.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, U. S. WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29, 1882. To the Editor of Ture Resumaticas: In your article to day concerning the Mackey PConner contest, I find you have been misin ormed in so many particulars that I am induced o sak you to publish the following: First—It is stated in the article alluded to that nly twelve precincts are in dispute. This is not by Mr. Mackey disputes nearly every precinct, and claims an election by a large majority, while deny that he was elected at all. These questions

avolve nearly every precinct in the district. Second—It is stated that the twelve precincts fluded to were "in due form of law returned to the county canvassers." It is only necessary to remark that the ballot box and return of Bookhart's, one of the twelve precincis, was in the

the county canyassers." It is only necessary to remark that the ballot box and return of Bookhart's, one of the twelve precincis, was in the private custody of Mr. Mackey's attorney, at the time of the county and State canyasses, and was not produced by him on either occasion. I did not know that is had ever been chained that this box had been "in due form of law roturned to the county canvassers" until I saw this article.

Third—It is stated that "the Riection Committee said to Mr. Dibble, 'If you propose to prove that the testimony that establishes the vote of these precincis has been tampered with you shall be heard." No such offer was ever made to me. On the contrary, I asked for an investigation, which involved this issue. I submitted allidavis, and Mr. Mackey admitted, that this testimony had been written out in long hand by Mr. Rosard, the notary, from atenographic notes: that I had then been delivered to Mr. Mackey, who had it rewritten: that the rewritten conies, and not the criticals, are now on file, purporting to be the original deposit, who was one of his wintenses: was a Ropublican supervisor at that election, was one of those chosen to watch the boxes until and during the county canvass (and who had been a liepublican State senator), to be offect that Mr. Mackey had altered with his own hand the depositions furnished by the notary, and had destroyed the originals; and that the copies made and to myelf that as graves charge should be investigated repularly, with privilege of cross-examination of with resses on both sides; and that I could not obtain except under the power of the Rouse, which I requisited the pipe of the Rouse, which I requised them to invoke, as the witnesses were party friends of Mr. Mackey as not not myelf that as graves charge should be investigated repularly, with privilege of cross-examination of witnesses on both sides; and that I could not obtain except under the power of the Rouse, which I requisited the right of the flow of the first witnesses on both sides; and that I co in your article.

Fourth—It is stated that the case really depends on the testimony of fourteen witnesses, and stress is laid upon their affidavite, and on Hegarth; affidavit that he has compared their deposition with his stenographic notes.

affidavit that he has compared their deposition with his stenographic notes.

As to eight of the fourteen witnesses, their affidavits are part of a batch of thirty-nine affidavits similar in form, taken in one day before the sam notary, in Charleston, three days after the charge had been filed in Washington, and requiring care ful scrutiny of overtwo hundred pages of prince matter, and an accurate personal recollection of the exact figures testified as the vote of thirty-nin precincts at examinations held a year before And as to the sffidavit of Hogarth, it is utterly un reliable. It was made in Angusta, Ga., February 27, and it states it is made in response to an an nexed letter of Mr. Mackey, dated Washington February 23. In reality, it was made in response to a personal application, and after a secret interview.

Footbary 25. In reality, it was made in repaired to a personal application, and after a secret interview.

The parties concerned will understand what I mean when I mention the house of Sarah Fraser, a colored woman, No. 25 Walker street, Augusta, Ga., on February 25, as well as Mr. Hogarth's presence in Charleston, S. C., on February 24. I applied a few days afterward, through reliable counsel, to Mr. Hogarth for copies of certain depasitions to be prepared by him from his stenographic notes, in concert with any reliable stenegrapher in augusta.

Mr. Hogarth declined to furnish the copies, unless prepared by himself alone, without the presence of any other stenographer. Further, I am teliably informed by a gentleman gho has lately seen the stenographic notes, that they then had crasures, transpositions, and interlineations. Common is unnecessary.

Sixth—The statement that I was one of Mr. O'Connor's counsel is only true to this extent, that, at the request of Mr. Browning, who was Mr. O'Connor's attorney in his content in my county, I examined several witnesses, and cross-examined some others. I did this as a personal and political friend of Mr. O'Connor, and while examining such witnesses, I, of course, represented him. I had nothing to do with the sipulations of counsel or the general management of the case. Respectfully yours.

Samuel Disble.
